A Different Lens

Memories may fade and landscapes change with time, but photographs freeze a unique moment in time. During the Carmel Art Walk, when art galleries and studios open their doors for the public to enjoy an array of art, Weston Gallery hosts a drop-in book-signing called A spiritual journey of Tibet and Yosemite through the lenses of Kenneth Parker & William Neill. Both artists are renowned photographers who spent decades documenting their surroundings. Parker captured the Tibetan Mustang region and its cultural heritage while Neill shares his personal collection that captures Yosemite's essence. Weston Gallery also has an exhibition dedicated to the photographers' artwork, which will be open through May. [CJ]
